Anderson, Tied to a Tree When Found, Relates His Exciting Experiences

Seattle, July 9 .- It is believed Tracy is in the vicinity of Renton this morning. Heavy posses patrolled all roads during the night. The sheriff is on the ground, directing a systematic search. The bloodhounds are now on the trail. Officers expect a capture at any time, as it is known that Tracy has been without sleep since Sunday afternoon, and is almost worn out.

Tracy was seen talking with a farmer named Jensen, three-quarters of a mile south of Renton, at 9 o'clock this morning. - Jensen thinks he had a confederate with him. The posse is quietly surrounding him. They have three bloodhounds.

Tracy landed at West 3eattle in the open boat taken from the shortly after daylight an Sunday morning. He spent the day in a ravine a few hundred yards south of the wheat elevators, and at dusk caused Anderson, whom, during the whole time, he had treated as a veritable galley slave, to row him across to a point near Newell's mill at South Seattle, here the boat was beached and to King county was had by its finding and identification yesterday afternoon.

Close upon the heels of the boat's recognition by Deputy Sheriff McKay. of Port Madison, came the information, conveyed direct to the sheriff's office by 18-year-old Charley Gerrells, of Tracy's presence in the home of his Sound railroad, one mile from the own of Renton. The news was acted ipon with vigor by the handful of deputies who chanced to be quartered in the sheriff's office when young Gerrell's arrived, Deputy Sheriff Mc Ciellan, accompanied by two other guards, and C.
